

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Nucleotides that block the bitter taste of foods, beverages, pharmaceutically active oral dose preparations, cosmetics and other bitter compounds that come into contact with taste tissue. The nucleotides consist of a purine or pyrimidine group, or derivative thereof, and an ionizable phosphate or other anionic organic molecule.